Foreword

The Wyoming Historical Society awards program recognizes efforts to preserve Wyoming history. Awards candidates will have written, published, and copyrighted works pertaining to Wyoming history or will have made significant contributions in historical compilations for which adequate publisher markets do not exist.

The awards program also recognizes significant contributions in other areas of historical activity.

The Society encourages everyone to nominate individuals or groups who have made significant contributions for awards.

The Society's Executive Director will post each year's recipients on the Society's website at www.wyshs.org.

Interested persons may, with the approval of the Wyoming Historical Society Executive Board, contribute to Wyoming history by establishing and donating to an award that would become part of this program and be administered by the Society. The donor may specify the rules for the award and designate what the award will be. For details contact the Society's Central Office at PO Box 33, Riverton, WY, 82501, or preferably via e-mail to executivedirector@wyshs.org.

Awards Committee

The committee's duty is to judge nominations in accordance with rules established by the Society's Executive Committee. The Executive Committee appointed the following members to the 2026 Award's Committee: Beki Speas, (Chair); Greg Luhman, and Kathleen Price.

The awards committee may move nominations to other categories.

The awards committee may award an Honorable Mention in any or all categories.

The awards committee will meet to judge the nominations.

The awards committee may nominate and make awards on its own when an individual has nominated a project or activity worthy of an award in a category.

At the award committee's discretion, an award may not be given in a category if the committee feels none of the nominations are worthy of an award. Committee decisions are final.

The committee chair will compile a list with the name of the award, the award winner's name, who made the nomination, the committee's reason for its selection, and contact information (i.e., the award winner's address, phone number and/or e-mail address).

The committee chair will present certificates, plaques, and other awards at the Annual Conference.

Awards Program Rules

The awards period is January 1 to December 31, 2025. Books must have been published, and projects completed during that period to be eligible for a 2026 Award. All student awards shall be completed during the 2025-2026 school year.

Recognized activities are publications, exhibits, and other projects related to Wyoming history. Books must have been published during the year prior to the nomination.

Historical organizations across Wyoming are urged to use awards as a means of honoring members, projects, researchers, historians, students, and teachers.

Submit one nomination per category except in cases where more than one award may be given (e.g., one award is given in the Publications-Reference category so a chapter or individual may submit one nomination).

Nomination package contents (Submit all parts of the nomination simultaneously)

1. Complete the 2026 Nomination Form online for each nomination.
2. Include adequate supporting documentation to aid the awards committee in its selection (some awards require specific additional information)
3. Submit the support materials required by each type of awards category.

Support materials

Print publication nominations must include a copy of the publication sent to the Awards Chair.

Fine art nominations (e.g., painting, sculpture, etc.) include color photos of the piece, not the original.

Online nominations (i.e., website, social media, podcast) include a link to the site on the nomination form. Do not include printed materials.

Documentary nominations must include an audio or visual copy, or a link to the documentary, as appropriate, of the production.

For young historians, HOME mailing addresses and parent phone numbers must be included.

Submit electronic nominations according to the instructions.

Award is made to an organization or an individual in recognition of an outstanding project in the field of historic preservation. A historic preservation project may span many years, and people are encouraged to submit projects that may represent Wyoming's diverse cultural heritage. Projects may be underway or shall have been completed within two years the nomination.

Possible nominations may include residential, commercial, public, religious, industrial, or institutional buildings, historic sites, trails, cemeteries, archaeological sites, and other places significant to Wyoming history. Projects that focus on objects or items such as photographs, documents, antiques, or books, and oral history programs or similar projects are not eligible.

Preservation of sites on the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) that comply with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Historic Preservation will be given special consideration. Sites not enrolled in the NRHP may be eligible for consideration.

Buildings or objects that have been moved from their original location are generally not eligible for listing in the NRHP. These buildings or sites currently used or planned for a use other than that for which they were originally constructed may be considered for the award. These buildings or sites should retain features and characteristics strongly reminiscent of the original use. For example, a home converted for use as a bed and breakfast might retain these features and traits.

A Society chapter or the Society's executive board may submit nominations.

Nominations and materials submitted with the nomination, such as photographs, brochures, and newspaper and magazine articles, must be electronically processed and sent by e-mail.

The Society's historic preservation committee will review applications. The committee may give more than one award. Other nominations may be eligible to receive special recognition.

The recipient receives $300 and a plaque.

The chair will document the name of the award, the award winner, who made the nomination, the committee's reason for its selection, and contact information (i.e., the chapter's and the award winner's address, phone number and/or e-mail address).

The chair will present plaques and monetary awards at the annual meeting.
